DICKENSON FOR STUART.

County Chairman Expects Safe Ma-

County Chairman Expects Safe Majority for Democratic Candidate.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Freeling, Va., October 8.—Noah J. Buchanan, chairman of the Democratic executive committee of Dickenson county, was here looking after the interests of Candidate Stuart. He reports the county in good shape, After carefully "checking up" the list of voters he finds that Stuart will carry the county by 52, as the figures now stand, The chairman says that quite a number of prominent Republicans have declared their intention of supporting Stuart, and what is, better, most of these are men upon whom he can depend. He thinks the opposition is not putting up the game fight that it usually does; it appears to be working in a half-hearted sort of manner. Unless a great change takes place in the sentiments of the voting population by election day, Dickenson county will poll an old-time majority for the Democracy.

WEAK BANKS MUST GO

Shaky Institutions Will Be Forced In Washington, October 6.—Nations banks which are shaky and give n promise of improvement are bein steadily forced out of business. During Williamsburg, Va., October 6.—William Knapton, the New York man, who on Tuesday fraudulently secured $25 on a check indorsed by Mrs. J. A. Banks, proprietor of the Raleigh Hotel, where he was stopping, was given a hearing before Mayor E. W. Warburton this morning. He was found to this morning. He was found the man's pocket when arrested, and most of this was turned over to Mrs. Banks.

Knapton secured the indorsement of his landlady on a check for $25, under the pretense that it was for $25, and decamped with the difference. He was arrested a few-hours later by the Newport News police.
